Monsignor H. Jules Roos
1930-2013

His work among the poor of Chimbote, Peru was “a Mission that became a home” for Monsignor H. Jules Roos, Bishop Zubik said of the local priest’s 48 year commitment to the poorest of people in the South American country.

With Father Jim Shanahan and other priests and sisters, Monsignor Roos began a Social Works Center. An outpatient clinic existed. But by 1966 Father Roos, dismayed by the many emergency baptisms he was performing for babies dying in unhealthy conditions, opened a maternity hospital.

Monsignor was soon joined by Dominican Sisters from Grand Rapids, Michigan – Sister Margaret Mary Birchmeier, OP and Sister Lillian Bockheim, OP – and other Mission Partners who together created a lasting “bridge of love and hope” that connects Pittsburgh and Chimbote. Their motivation was a conviction that the Church should serve the poorest of the poor as if they were Jesus Himself, with the spiritual, medical and physical support they need.

Today, the Center for Social Works, the Pittsburgh Diocese’s mission in Chimbote, operates a maternity hospital, clinic, lab, pharmacy, children’s shelter and orphanage, serving more than 1,000 patients each day. In 2019 the 100,000th baby will be born at our maternity hospital, Maternidad de Maria.
